

The Birches

by Walter Prichard Eaton

The little birches, white and slim, Gleaming in the forest dim, Must think the day is almost gone, for each one has her nightie on.